KNIFESTYLES

DID AnnaLynne McCord give her bust a boost? The slender 90210 star flaunted fuller-looking cleavage in a revealing red gown when she stepped out on the L.A. set of her hit teen drama on Nov. 9 — a stark contrast to her formerly flat-chested figure. And according to experts, the actress got her new shape with the help of surgery.

“A recent breast augmentation seems likely,” San Francisco-based plastic surgeon Dr. Edward P. Miranda tells Star. “The breasts have a distinct curve at the cleavage line and on the sides by her arms. And especially since she is clearly not wearing a bra, a breast augmentation is the most probable reason for that.”

Another plastic surgeon, Dr. Semira Bayati of Newport Beach, Calif., agrees that the 24-year-old has likely gone under the knife. “The change in the cleavage as well as the increase in the volume of her breasts suggest augmentation,” Dr. Bayati explains to Star.

But the enhancement is far from extreme, he notes, and the assets seem to suit AnnaLynne. “It appears to be nicely proportionate to her slim body and not overdone in size.”

“The changes in the cleavage [and] volume suggest a breast augmentation.”
